Saturday 10th November - The Day of the Match

11:00-14:00 Pre-match lunch at Aux 3 Obus

14:30-16:00 Stade Français v Harlequins, Stade Jean Bouin

11:00-14:00 Pre-match lunch at Aux 3 Obus - 120 rue Michel-Ange (75016)

For the 78 Quinssa members who have booked (72 set menu, 6 vegetarian/fish option) there will be a set meal at Les 3 Obus before the match from 11:00 onwards.

The restaurant is very close to Stade Jean Bouin. It's right by the Metro at Porte de Saint-Cloud (M9). It's at the roundabout at the bottom of rue Michel-Ange

Set menu (vegetarian/fish option available if pre-booked):

Terrine du Chef (sanglier) - Confiture d'oignons.

Suprême de volaille aux champignons - Gratin dauphinois.

Clafoutis aux pruneaux.

Café

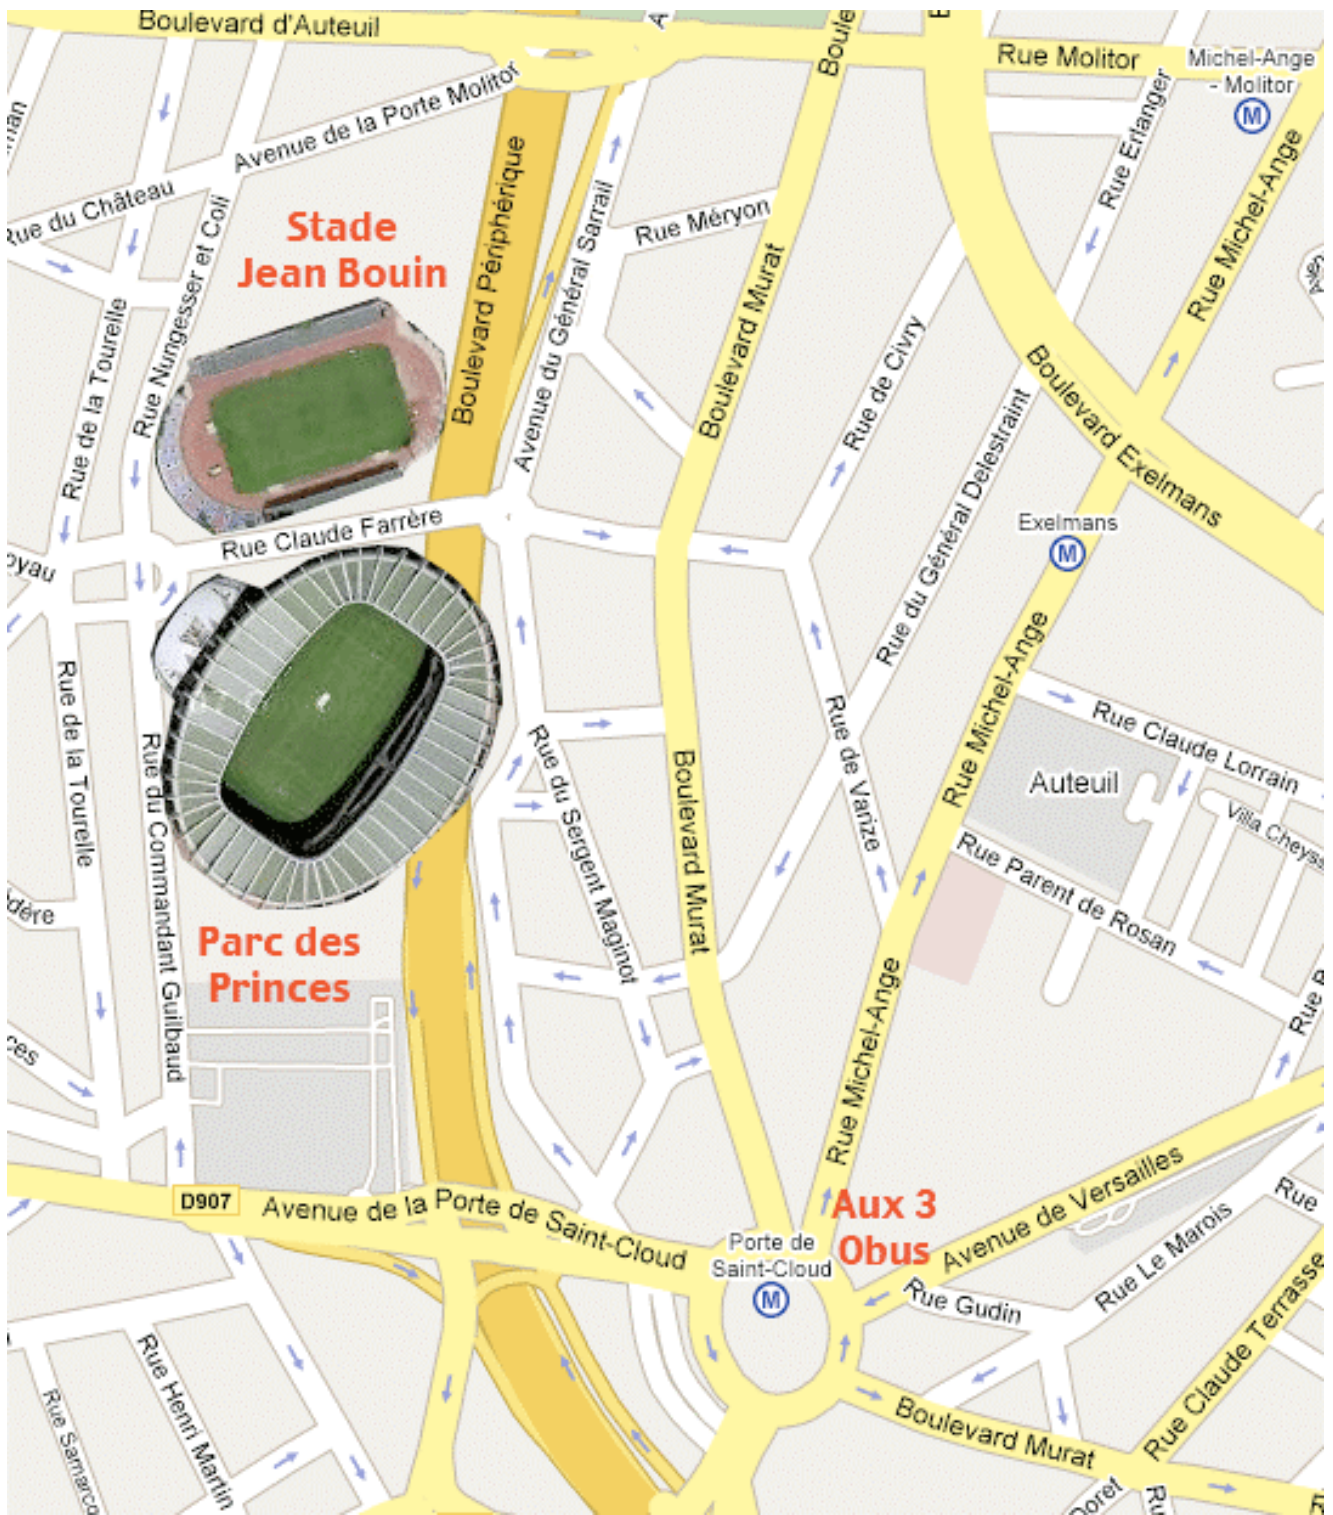

Vin de Bordeaux (1 bottle for 2 persons)

The price is 25 euros, you will be paying the restaurant direct so it would be an idea to have the correct money with you.

Remember to leave in time to watch the match even though it's only a short walk away!

There is a map on the next page.

NB. There is a football match at the Parc des Princes in the evening so the bars in the area may get very crowded.

Sunday 11th November

There is nothing planned for the Sunday except for recovering from the night before, but here are a couple of suggestions:

Armistice Day, citywide. The signing of the controversial document that ended World War I is celebrated with a military parade from the Arc de Triomphe to the Hôtel des Invalides. November 11.

Fête d'Art Sacré (Festival of Sacred Art). A series of classical concerts is held in five of the oldest churches of Paris. For details, call tel. 01-44-70-64-10. Mid-November to mid-December.

The Festival d'Automne (Autumn Festival. 01-53-45-17-00. www.festival-automne.com) has been going strong since 1972, bringing all sorts of arts events to the capital. The fine-arts exhibits and dance, theater, and music performances all focus on emerging and international artists.
