

Quinssa Programme Notes 25th September 2010.

We'd like to welcome the supporters of Exeter Chiefs to the Twickenham Stoop today for their first visit to our hallowed ground as an Aviva Premiership team. They have achieved some great results in the few weeks of their first campaign against some tough opposition. Quins will need to be at their best today and taking those opportunities to score when they develop.

I remember our away game in Exeter when we were down a division, and it was a sorry bunch of supporters who made the long journey home that day. The only game we lost all season. I'm looking forward to visiting the Wild West in the New Year and experiencing their new ground. It must be better than the old one!

A total of 105 tickets have been purchased via Quinssa for the away game in Bayonne and these will, hopefully, be available for collection today, from our stand in the Kings Bar, and next week at the Newcastle game from the same location. Any queries about these tickets should be directed to warren@quinssa.org.uk We'll be doing the same for the other away games in Europe at Connaught and Prato once we know the precise details of each match.

If you are one of the many supporters who renewed or joined Quinssa recently then your membership cards will be available to collect from our stand located at the back of the Kings Bar.

To help you with your match day enjoyment we at Quinssa have got a stock of high quality, reusable, recycled, collapsible drinks carriers. They can fold up and fit in your pocket and are designed to carry two, three or four plastic pint, half pint or coffee cups. They will cost £3.50 for Members and £4.00 for non members and they are available from the Quinssa Stand in the Kings Bar We only have a limited stock of 100 at the moment so get them quick (please bring correct change if you possibly can), if they are very popular then we will reorder. All profits will go to the Academy Fund.

Quinssa have a full house of activities planned for the season ahead including some old favourites, and I thought we should flag up the schedule as we know it to date so you can start planning your social calendar for the months ahead. Away coaches are also listed below.
